

Kline Named ASC Lifetime Achievement Award Recipient

Richard H. Kline, ASC will receive the American Society of Cinematographers (ASC) Lifetime Achievement Award at the 20th Annual ASC Outstanding Achievement Awards on February 26, 2006, at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

Kline has compiled more than 50 narrative film credits beginning in 1964 with the television series Mr. Novak. He earned Oscar nominations for Camelot in 1968 and for King Kong in 1977. His other memorable credits include The Andromeda Strain, Soylent Green, Battle for the Planet of the Apes, The Terminal Man, All of Me, Who'll Stop the Rain, Star Trek: The Motion Picture, Breathless, and Body Heat.

"Richard Kline has made an indelible impression on the art of cinematography," says Russ Alsobrook, ASC who chairs the organization's awards committee. "He is an innovative artist who had the courage to explore and open new frontiers, and the talent to succeed in those endeavors." ■

